Ephemeral Art

Alison C. Jameson, PhD
Visiting Assistant Professor, Religious Studies/East Asian Studies
Interim Director of the Institute for the Study of Religions and Cultures
University of Arizona
Learning Objectives

1) Explain the role of ephemeral art as a meditative/devotional medium

2) Describe the value of process (as opposed to product) in relation to coursework

3) Apply concepts of transience and compassion in constructive criticism of classmates’ work
"When you spend a great deal of time and effort on a class exercise, a creative project, or something that may not last for long, are you wasting your time? Why? Why not?"

~Claire Campbell Park, Creating with Reverence
GROUP MANDALA